Here are some pictures of the day and a declaration of prof. Gaudenzi, DIMA Director: «In my class of "Costruzioni spaziali" of the Master in Space Engineering of Sapienza today we had a very special guest lecturer. Infact On. Angelo Tofalo, Undersecretary of State of Defense, addressed my students with a lecture on the Aerospace field in the political perspective of the Italian Government and of the European and international scenario. An intense and dialectical questions&answers session with the students was the core of the time spent together in a very intense hour. The perspective of the Italian role in aeronautics and space and the political European and Atlantic alliances were discussed in a very direct and frank way. Our active participation the JEDI - Joint European Disruptive Initiative - was also at the center of attention! We shared the belief that the future of our society, namely its welfare and lifestyle, the respect of human and civil rights we reached in our democracies need to be defended and promoted by all means. Our young generation of engineers are the most valuable asset for the future of our society and for innovation.»
